

Nicholas Beamon is a principal consultant, facilitator and executive coach at The Center for Intentional Leadership, an organization committed to the development of extraordinary people, teams and organizations.

Nicholas brings 20 years of corporate experience as a senior vice president at Wachovia where he developed individuals, business teams, and non-profit organizations to next-level performance. His corporate experience includes strategic development and execution of major product lines, executive recruiting strategy and talent development, as well as tactical execution of sales, service and financial performance. Nicholas's work has positively impacted organizations such as Belk, Harris Teeter, Bank of America and Snyder's-Lance.

Nicholas has a finance degree from the University of South Carolina and an MBA from the McColl School of Business at Queens University. He has served as board chair of the Gantt Center; was a board member for the Johnston YMCA and Uptown Childress Klein YMCA, and The Junior League Corporate Advisory Board; and has served on committees for the Arts and Science Council and the Charlotte Chamber of Commerce.